BIOGRAPHY OF SEYMOUR.

Ex-Governor Seymour, of New York, died at 10 o'clock Friday night at the residence in Utica of his sister, Mrs. Roscoe Conkling. He began to fail perceptibly at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Shortly afterwards he rallied a little, but soon relapsed into total unconsciousness. He expired without a struggle and as peacefully as if falling asleep. Horatio Seymour was born in Pompey, Onondaga county, New York, May 31, 1810. When he was 9 years of age his parents removed to Utica. He was educated at the academies of Oxford and Geneva, N. Y., and Partridge's military school, Middletown, Conn., studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1832. The death of his father devolved upon him the settlement of a large estate, and withdrew him from the practice of his profession. From 1833 to 1839 he served on the military staff of Governor Marcy. In 1841 he was elected to the State Assembly as a Democrat, was reelected three times, and in 1845 was chosen Speaker. In 1842, while in the Assembly, he was elected Mayor of Utica for one year. In 1848 he supported Lewis Cass for the Presidency. In 1850 he was nominated by the Democrats for Governor, and was defeated by Washington Hunt, the Whig candidate, by a plurality of 262 votes; but in 1852 he was elected Governor by a plurality of 22,596 votes over the same competitor. A prohibitory liquor bill passed in March, 1854, was vetoed by him, on the ground that it was unconstitutional. He was re-nominated in 1854. The prohibition question entered largely into the canvass, which was further complicated by the Know-Nothing issue and the anti-slavery agitation growing out of the repeal of the Missouri compromise. There were four candidates for Governor, and Myron H. Clark, Whig and Prohibitionist, was elected by a plurality of 309 votes over Governor Seymour. In 1862, Mr. Seymour was again elected Governor over General James S. Wadsworth by a majority of 10,752 votes. In his inaugural address on January 1, 1863, he said: "Under no circumstances can the division of the Union be conceded. We will put forth every exertion of power; we will use every policy of conciliation; we will guarantee them every right, every consideration demanded by the Constitution, and by that fraternal regard which must prevail in a common country; but we can never voluntarily consent to the breaking up of the union of these States or the destruction of the Constitution." On June 15, Secretary Stanton, by direction of President Lincoln, telegraphed to Governor Seymour asking if he could raise and forward 20,000 militia to assist in repelling the threatened invasion of Maryland and Pennsylvania by Lee's army; and within three days 12,000 soldiers were on their way from New York to Harrisburg. While these troops were absent from the State the draft was ordered to be enforced in the city of New York on July 11th. On the 9th General John E. Wool, commanding the Department of the East, addressed a letter to Governor Seymour, setting forth that the city of New York was in a defenseless condition, and asked that he might be furnished with four companies of infantry. These companies were on their way thither from the interior of the State when General Wool telegraphed, July 13th: "Please countermand any militia that is ordered to this place." On the same day the draft riots began. The Governor immediately went to New York, where on the 14th he issued two proclamations—one calling on the rioters to disperse, and the other declaring the city in a state of insurrection. He divided it into districts, which were placed under the control of military men who were directed to organize the citizens; and 3,000 stands of arms were issued to these and other organizations. Boats were chartered to convey policemen and soldiers to any point on the shores of the island where disturbances were threatened. The Governor visited all the riotous districts in person, and by persuasion as well as by the use of the force at his command aided in quelling the disturbances. During his term Gov. Seymour commissioned more than 13,000 officers in the volunteer service of the United States. In 1864, he addressed a message to the Legislature advocating the payment of the interest on the State bonds in gold; and the refusal of the Legislature to adopt this policy greatly depreciated their value. In August he presided over the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, which nominated General McClellan for the Presidency. He also presided over the Convention in 1868, held in New York. The leading candidates for the nominations were: George H. Pendleton, Andrew Johnson, Thomas A. Hendricks and General W. S. Hancock. Governor Seymour had positively declined to permit the use of his name as a candidate; but on the twenty-second ballot the Ohio delegation, to forestall a threatened movement in favor of Salmon P. Chase, cast their united vote for Horatio Seymour. When Wisconsin was reached in the call of States, its delegation seconded his nomination, and every State changed its vote to Seymour, who was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention. General Francis P. Blair, Jr., was nominated for Vice President. At the election Seymour and Blair received 2,703,600 votes against 3,013,188 votes for Grant and Colfax. Since the election Governor Seymour has lived in retirement on his extensive and well cultivated farm in Deerfield, near Utica, though once since then he was prominently mentioned as a possible Democratic candidate for the Presidency. He has been President of the National Dairymen's Association and of the Prison Association of the United States. He was a brother-in-law of Hon. Roscoe Conkling. The report of the resignation of Senator Stanford and the abdication of the Queen of Spain, recall the traditional sentiment that politics are very unsatisfactory. From Cardinal Woolsey down to Senator Thurman that is the universal experience.—Gazette. Still Stewart and a host of other patriots are willing to stand in. Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has struck the nail on the head. He has introduced a bill in the Senate to abrogate our existing treaties with China and to exclude all classes of Chinese from hereafter landing in this country, except those who come on diplomatic errands. In a short time death has removed four men who stood high in the affection of the National Democrat Party—Hendricks, Vice President, and McClellan, Hancock and Seymour, each of whom had been honored with a Presidential nomination by the Democracy. The Sub-committee on Military Affairs has reported favorably the bill for the erection of a branch home for disabled volunteer soldiers west of the Rocky mountains, and has recommended an appropriation of $10,000. "Industrial" is the very latest word which has been developed at the East. Any man who is ashamed of the ancient and honorable word "workman," or thinks himself lowered by being hired is welcome to use it. Lucky Baldwin seems to be getting the worst of it in his suit with Miss Perkins. These old lecherous and libidinous rascals should be made to suffer for their illegitimate freaks. The Times' Washington correspondent says that it is rumored that Edmunds will favor open sessions of the Senate, having changed his views to meet the supposed popular opinion. Senator Sherman attended the Hebrew Fair in Washington the other evening, and in a one-cent raffle won a $3 suit of boy's clothes. Who would not be a Senator? W. J. Tinnin, the recently appointed Surveyor of the Port of San Francisco, has notified Surveyor Morton that he will take possession of the office on the 15th inst. Senator Miller's condition remains unchanged. No marked improvement or failing is observable, but his warmest friends now despair of his recovery.

Character of the Bill to be Presented to the House. WASHINGTON, February 11.—The character of the new tariff bill will soon be made known. Morrison has been engaged on it since last March. Hewitt, in speaking of the bill to-day, said there seemed to be an erroneous impression as to the manner and methods of preparing the bill. After the defeat of the Morrison horizontal bill last Summer, Morrison went to Hewitt and asked him to co-operate with him in formulating a new tariff bill. Since then they have worked together, and the present bill is the result of their joint labor, with the concurrence of Speaker Carlisle. The bill follows more closely the Hewitt idea, and is regarded as moderate in its provisions. Since its completion it has been submitted to all the Democratic members of the Committee on Commerce, and while it is not as radical as some of the more ardent free traders desire, in the main it fulfills the pledge of the Chicago platform and makes considerable reduction in the higher rates of duty. The free list is quite large, and embraces salt, lumber, iron ore and nearly all the raw material used in the manufacture of articles in this country. Hewitt said that they hoped to finish consideration of the bill in the committee and report it to the House within two weeks. Morrison, Hewitt and other members of the committee expect to get a nearly united vote of the Democrats, and express great confidence in its final adoption. Congressman Morrison presented in the House to-day a petition from the lumber dealers of Oregon, California and Washington Territory asking that lumber be not taken off the tariff list. New York, February 12.—The Star's Washington correspondent says of Morrison's Tariff Bill: The existing classification of wool is abandoned. Both classes of carpet wool are consolidated. The consolidated rate is 24.5 cents per pound. There is no change in the silk or liquor schedule. The third division of the bill relates to sugars principally. A careful revision of the different classifications of sugar has been made, and reduction provided which are estimated to amount to $10,000,000 annually, calculating on the basis of last year's importations. SENATE AND PRESIDENT. Wrangle in Executive Session over Nominations of the President. A New York Times' Washington special of the 10th says: "The fact has leaked out that at the last executive session, after the Senators had tired of wrangling about the rights of the Senate to call for papers in the President's possession, there was an angry squabble over the nomination of a Register of a Land Office in Arkansas. Senator Berry was interested in the case and he induced the Public Land Committee, of which he is a member, to report in favor of confirming the nominee. When the matter came up in the Senate, Logan discovered that the appointment was to succeed a suspended officer, and he promptly protested in vigorous language against confirming any such nomination. He elaborated the Republican position that no successor to a suspended Republican should be confirmed pending the Senators' controversy with the Administration, and had so much to say about establishing precedent that Miller felt moved to remind him that Postmaster Judd, of Chicago, had been confirmed as the successor of Palmer, who was suspended. Teller also reminded Logan that a Colorado officer who succeeded a suspended Republican had been confirmed. Logan is said to have had hard work to keep his temper within bounds, while denouncing the apparent defection in the Republican ranks, and Berry was very much in earnest in his defense of the Commissioner's report. Logan called Edmunds, Sherman and others to his aid, however, and succeeded in staving off action on the Arkansas case both at that session and that of to-day. It is privately learned that Wells, Fargo & Co. have secured the mail contract from Redding to this place. We hope that the report is true, as that company would undoubtedly stock it in first-class shape, which would insure more regularity in our mails.—Lakeview Examiner.

His Friends Assert that He is Tired of Public Life. WASHINGTON, February 11.—To most people who observe Senator Stanford in the Senate it seems that his official career here opens a new and delightful life to him, and Californians who visit him and his wife in their home remark at the changed aspect they see. The melancholy which hung like a shadow over the household after the death of their son has given way to a bright and cheerful sky. Their official life has undoubtedly brought them both out of the sorrows in which they lived for a year. Yet Stanford is dissatisfied. He said yesterday that he would resign if the Governor of California were a Republican. Stanford is punctilious in his fidelity to the duties of his office. He has never yet missed a meeting of the Senate or a committee and he is always ready to go to the departments to attend to the wants of his constituents. His willingness in this direction has become so well known that he is more often than any other member of the delegation made the pilot of newly arrived California office-seekers, who want to be introduced to the President or a Cabinet officer. But he says the life is not congenial and that he wants to lay aside the duties of the office. His railroad friends try to suppress these expressions and say that he will not withdraw from public life, but others, who are quite as well able to judge, are of the opinion that Stanford will resign as soon as he can be assured that his successor will be a Republican. The Blythe Estate. The story of Edward Edwin and Edward Edward Blythe, two foundrymen of London, who claim to be the legitimate sons of Thomas H. Blythe, the deceased millionaire, will be published in to-day's Chronicle. They state that they are his sons by his first wife. Their father married again, and married a third wife bigamously. For this offense he was transported to Van Diemen's Land. After serving five years he was released and came to this State, where he accumulated a fortune of $5,000,000 before his death. There are already about 100 claimants to the deceased's estate, who are scattered in England, Australia and different parts of the United States. To this list these two have added their claims, which have been placed in the hands of an attorney of this city. Hawaiian Mosses. Vassar College has recently received a gift for its botany department of a full collection of the native ferns of Hawaii. The donor is Mrs. Emily Talbot Walker, of San Francisco. The ferns are mounted on sheets of Bristol board, eighteen inches long and twelve inches wide. While each sheet exhibits, for scientific purposes, one conspicuous central fern, the botanical name of which is printed below, the base of each specimen is surrounded by sprays of various ferns and mosses, so arranged as to produce an artistic effect. The collection embraces seventy-two sheets, exhibiting twenty different genera and seventy-six different species, some of which are quite rare. A Welcome Decision. The question of authority for issuing Consular certificates to Chinese covered a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Secretary of State, dated August 25, 1885, in accordance with the several protests made by Congressman Morrow to the Secretary of State and to the Secretary of the Treasury, that all such certificates were contrary to law. The Secretary of the Treasury abrogates this supposed authority, and decides that there is no authority in law for the issuing by Consular officers of certificates entitling Chinese persons of any character to land in the United States, and instructions have been given accordingly. Hon. T. B. Riskey and N. H. A. Mason whose great estates respectively skirt the upper and lower reaches of the rugged Walker river, and whose cattle roam about the mountains and valleys of the sagebrush State were in Carson yesterday. They were fraternally preambulating our principal street and the Nevada Governorship of the near future was the immediate topic of conversation among their friends.—Carson Index.

It is Nearly Ready for Presentation—What it will Probably Propose. The New York Post's Washington dispatch says: Morrison's tariff bill will be about fifteen printed pages in length. This is a short tariff bill. It is probable that a petition will be added fixing the rate on silks at the specific equivalent of the present ad valorem rates. Columbus Delano, of Ohio, who represents the association of Western Wool-growers has become convinced that the bill will propose a reduction in the rate on wool, and in anticipation of this he expects to call a convention of wool-growers to meet here to use their influence with Congress to prevent the adoption of such recommendation, but there is pretty good reason to believe that Morrison will propose no reduction in the rates upon wool. It is, however, almost certain that the bill will reduce the rates upon carpet wools. As they come into competition with no wool grown in this country, it is probable there will be opposition to this proposition. A bitter contest is expected over the free list. It now seems probable that lumber and some of the metallic ores will be put on. It is expected that a large vote will be cast for free lumber from the agricultural States and Western cattle-growers and packers will be earnestly in favor of free salt. Calculations made by experts show that the reductions in the aggregate will not be great. A BONUS OF MILLIONS. What the Trade With China Costs the Country. According to the thirty-sixth annual report of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce the merchandise exports from this port to China were $3,602,488, and the imports $5,949,045, a trade balance against the United States through this port of $2,346,551. The treasure imports from China amounted to $3,438, and the exports to $12,490,439. By a simple sum in addition and subtraction it will be seen, therefore, that the drain on the country through this port last year was $10,138,450. For 1883 the trade balance against us was $4,453,953, and for 1884 it was $9,123,682, making a total drain for the three past years of $23,716,085. Boycotting a Picture. A company is constructing a brick building within a few yards of the White House to exhibit a panorama of the first battle of Bull Run on canvass, after the order of pictures of the siege of Paris, etc. The scene represents the Union troops fleeing towards Washington in wild disorder and being cut to pieces by the victorious Confederates, headed by distinguished Generals in gray. The Grand Army of the Republic post held a meeting and boycotted the exhibition, which has not yet been opened to the public. A notice was sent out to the posts all over the country to take similar action. The Tuscarora Times-Review reaffirms its adherence to the principles enunciated. It says: It yields a free lance and proposes to strike at political and all kinds of public corruption wherever it raises its head, whether in the Republican, Democratic, or any other party. It wants to see a United States Senator elected without the corrupt use of money and its purposes is to raise such a feeling against the practice as will more than offset the advantage of a kick. It matters more to us whether the successful candidate is honestly and decently elected than whether he is a Democrat or Republican, and it will favor the election of either against the other whose canvassing methods best entitle him to honorable support. It is announced that the construction of the Portland Reduction Works will be commenced soon. For the very best photographs go to Dunham & Kelsey's new photo parlors, Plaza street, Reno, Nevada. N. B.—This establishment is all on the ground floor; no stairs to climb. DUNHAM & KELSEY. THE CRADLE. HISCOCK—In Syracuse, New York, February 11, to the wife of A. K. Hiscock (nee Miss Gertrude Hatch), a son.

The new contract for the Reno and Cedarville route has been secured by V. H. Pease at $13,720. It is thought that on April 1st the route will be cut to three times a week. Mrs. McLane, although losing this route, says she secured forty-five in California, and fifty-one in the other States and Territories on the Coast.

State Land Sales.

During the five months prior to September 7, 1885, when the price of State land was raised by the Board of Regents, 97,259 40 acres of State land was sold—more than the entire sales of either 1883 or 1884. For the five months following September 9, 1885, or up to January 7, 1886, but 32,636 57 acres were disposed of. This shows the effect of the order raising the price of lands. During last month but 7,360 acres were sold.

Geo. Q. Cannon Arrested.

The great Mormon leader, who has been in hiding from the Utah Federal officials, was captured and arrested at the Humboldt House yesterday, by Sheriff Fellows, of Humboldt. It was known that he was on the train trying to get out of the country, and Bob Lindsay and our officers expected to bag the game at Reno last night. U. S. District Attorney Dickson has finally got the old he-Mormon, and considers it an event of national importance.

INTER-STATE RIFLE MATCH.

Between the California Schuetzen Club and the Carson City Guard.

Some weeks ago, says the San Francisco Call, Philo Jacoby, President of the California Schuetzen Club, and Colonel George C. Thaxter, of Carson, Nevada, arranged a rifle match between the club and a team of the Carson Guard. The teams will be composed of twenty men from other organization, of course the best men from each, selected after long and exhaustive practice. The distance will be 200 yards, and each man will fire twenty shots, under Creedmoor rules, allowing of a possible 100 points, or a possible aggregate of 2,000 points for a team. The teams have all been arranged by Mr. Jacoby and Colonel Thaxter, and the match is to come off on the 21st instant. The Schuetzen Club will shoot on its range in Alameda, and Nevada team on its own grounds in Carson City—official representatives of each competitor being appointed to judge the other's shooting. It is conceded to the Carson team, however, if the day proves too strong to shoot, their part of the contest may be postponed to a favorable time. It has been agreed, also, that no member who has joined either the club or the military company since December 1 last shall be eligible to belong to the teams. The guns to be used are military rifles under the Creedmoor rules of six-pound pull of trigger, open sights, off hand, etc. No match between riflemen since the last inter-State contest, between Nevada and California teams, a year and a half ago, has excited the interest among marksmen that this coming contest has. The Washoe sharpshooters are known as very excellent shots, and have made official records unequaled elsewhere; and the Schuetzen members embrace the pick of California riflemen. The match will be for glory and honor—the Club and the Guard both feeling that victory will be a prize of sufficient value to be worth a hard struggle.

LAND FOR THE LANDLESS.—But few persons have an idea of the vast amount of vacant land in the Lakewash District. There are 400 townships in the district in which there is not a single claim taken, and many, and in fact, most of townships where settlements have been made are but very sparsely settled. Much of the land, of course, is mountainous, hilly and desert; but a large proportion of it is good arable land, and nearly all of it is good grazing land. There is certainly no better opportunity for enterprising persons desiring homes than is afforded in this district. Transportation facilities are lacking, but the time is not far distant when we will be provided with railroads and other conveniences.—Lakewash Examiner.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-awf-1vr
